

Maybe, I've Been Coaching for Too Many Years.

Copyright Charlie Smith

July 5 2013

I don't want anything.

I can't get enough of what I don't want.

I want what I don't want.

I talk about creative indifference and am utterly incapable of it.

My best friends can neither say no nor yes.

I write a lot about mental conditions.

I used to be attracted to women.

Now, I only love the present moment whatever the hell that is.

This all leaves me precisely nowhere not wanting to be somewhere.

Perfect.